

IT WAS THE CAT

That Compelled Health Officer Rowell

Instead of the Poundmaster to Take

A Ride From Lorin to West Berkeley

Sixteen New Buildings to be Erected at Peralta Park Letter From the Santa Cruz Mountains. The First Saloon Arrest.

Silence Be, It Was the Cat.

This morning a gentleman who resides on Fifth street, adjacent to where the creek that cuts through the property between University avenue and Delaware street, made a discovery that he thought required immediate attention from the Health Officer, so he hid himself to the telephone and telephoned to Lorin for Health Officer Rowell to come to his place at once, as there was a nuisance that should be abated at once if the officer did not want the whole neighborhood stricken down with some plague.

Dr. Rowell lost no time in getting to West Berkeley after he received this message and he went immediately to the person who had telephoned to him and asked where the nuisance that he complained of and which was so serious, was. He was taken with a great deal of solemnity to the edge of the creek and had pointed out to him a black cat, which had finally given up its ninth and last life, and had then been thrown into the creek by its owner, whoever that might be.

To say that the Health Officer was mad, only poorly describes it although to outward appearances he was very calm. He informed the gentleman who had called him away from business that the poundmaster was the official that removed dead animals, and that hereafter he should call upon that official when he desired his neighbors dead cats removed.

More Building.

We were informed this morning by a gentleman who lives at Peralta Park, that in a very short time a well known property owner in that district would commence the erection of sixteen residences, all of which he proposed to offer for sale on the installment plan. The houses will all be large and commodious according to the plans that he has drawn, and they will be sold for the actual cost of building them.

This gentleman has had this matter in contemplation for some time, and is now preparing to go ahead and will do so just as soon as the franchise for an electric railroad which goes through that section and which is now before the Board, is granted. He thinks that Peralta Park is one of the most picturesque spots in Berkeley, and that a large number of people will purchase and build homes there just as soon as they get rapid transit to and from Oakland and to and from the railroad trains.

Letter from Camp.

JUNE 23, 1895.

WEST BERKELEY GAZETTE:—Dear friends—As I promised you I now produce epistle 1.

We left West Berkeley one week ago yesterday at 2:30 a. m. and made a most delightful run into camp, amid the singing of the birds, the shouting of the children, barking of dogs and cry of the quail.

We are located in a shady flat, just to the left of the Santa Cruz road, on the Los Gatos creek, and all join me in thinking it a corner of the Garden of Eden.

The climate, while very warm, is different from our West Berkeley warm weather, the flow of the creek and a gentle circulation of air, which is nearly always noticeable, makes the weather so very enjoyable.

Wild game and trout abound in abundance.

Mr. Van Fleet and his estimable wife hold sway over the adjoining camp, but we regret exceedingly that they are going to take their departure Monday a. m. Mr. Adair, one of San Mateo county's Supervisors, comes Tuesday to occupy the grounds made vacant by Mr. Van Fleet's departure, with three families. So you see this section is sought after by others than us from West Berkeley.

We have one of the finest hunting dogs in the State. She goes off every morning early and returns about breakfast time with a live chicken in her mouth. Mrs. Gladding says she thinks she must have been raised by a preacher.

Mr. Vasey walked into camp tired and dusty this a. m. and is now awaiting the clank of the cook's gong to sit down to a square.

The Japanese cook sends his love to all.

DR. C. F. GLADDING.

West Berkeley Camp, Santa Cruz Mountains.

The Altrurian Colony.

Mrs. Helen Chase of this city will leave this week for the Altrurian colony in Sonoma county. Mrs. Chase is the Secretary of the Berkeley Council, and has given the movement her support since its beginning. Her work has been closely identified with that of E. B. Payne, whose generosity toward the colony has been much commented upon.

Among the other Altrurians who have been drawn from Berkeley are Nannette Ames, contributor to the Overland Monthly, Sarah Dannels, J. C. Aiken and family and Mr. C. S. Preble's family.

A Test Case:

At one quarter past 2 o'clock this afternoon Deputy Marshal Rawson, upon complaint of Town Marshal Lloyd arrested Frank J. O'Brien for keeping a saloon without a license. Mr. O'Brien immediately went into Judge Lord's Court, heard the complaint read, plead not guilty, and was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

In the meantime the defendant will consult with his attorney and the time for hearing the case will be agreed upon by counsel.

The case will be a test one as to the action of the old Board of Trustees, where many matters were passed upon by a majority of the Board of Trustees but that majority was only three members. The new charter says it must take four members to pass any measure, the new Board consisting of seven members, instead of five.

Some Logic.

Senator Stewart now ascribes the falling off in the number of marriages to the demonization of silver. In fact that silver has become so cheap that for the time being there is no object in a baby's being born with a silver spoon in his mouth and therefore where there is no demand there will be no need of a supply.

A schooner loaded with lumber was being discharged at Taylor's wharf this morning.

ATTENTION CRESCENTS.

Very Important! Very Important!

There will be a special meeting of the Crescent Athletic Club held at the club rooms this evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The meeting will be held for the purpose of taking part in the reception to be given to University Athletic team. Every member is expected to be present without fail. By order of CHAS. EMSLIE, Vice-President.

Home Again.

The date of the arrival of the University team, which made itself so well known to the various crack college teams in the East and to the public generally, has been announced as next Thursday morning at 7:15 o'clock. They will leave the train at Sixteenth street and from thence will be conveyed to Berkeley.

The Olympic Club will give a reception and banquet the same evening. The following call to University men has been issued:

Alumni and students of the University of California at Berkeley and the affiliated colleges in San Francisco, you are requested to meet at the foot of Market street, on Thursday evening, June 27 at 7:30 o'clock, to escort the Varsity track athletic team to the Olympic Club, where a reception and banquet will be tendered them. This invitation is also extended to all other University men and to our athletic and bicycle clubmen. Let all turn out to welcome home our victorious Californians.

A. T. MORRISON, President of the Alumni Association. WILLIAM NAT FRIEND, President of the Associated Students.

CURIOUS FINDS.

The old City Hall in San Francisco is being torn down and the workmen are running across some curious and ghastly finds. A few days ago the workmen discovered between the walls two hands and two feet. They were shriveled up and dessicated almost to parchment. This may explain the disappearance of the days of '49.

The workmen are also running across papers, pictures and records that have been stowed away beneath the floors. Poker chips and other gambling paraphernalia and letters addressed to Jenny Lind were found stowed away beneath the rafters and the roof.

Large crowds are constantly about the building trying to get hold of something which they think will be a souvenir of the "days of old and the days of gold, and the days of '49."

Opposition.

A very heavy financial company has been formed in Pittsburg, Pa., called the National Independent Telephone Company of the United States. This company will operate in the West and South and as it is a syndicate it controls now over 100,000 instruments. It will work in large cities first and make a cut of 50 cents in the present rates of the Bell Telephone Company.

Geo. H. Stricker is going through with a regular cleaning in his cigar store near the corner of Center street and Shattuck avenue. A fine lot of paper has been selected for the walls and fancy work for the ceiling. All of the trimmings will be furnished with paint to correspond. When completed it will be the finest cigar store in Berkeley.

A hen, belonging to Sisterna, the expressman at West Berkeley, committed suicide this morning by hanging itself. It attempted to get through a picket fence but instead of getting through got its neck caught between the pickets and was choked to death.

The attention of contractors is called to the advertisement inviting proposals for grading and macadamizing Shattuck avenue. This is the same work upon which all bids were rejected on Saturday night.

SHE SKIPPED.

Joe Williams of West Berkeley

Who Loved Not Wisely But Too Well

Now Mourns the Loss of Money

And Jewelry. A Married Woman Shared His Bed and Board For Awhile But Now She Has Deserted Him.

Mary Has Skipped.

Almost everybody who has lived in West Berkeley for any length of time must know either personally or by mention Joe Williams, the restaurant man on Sixth street near University avenue.

Some years ago when Joe was somewhat younger, and no doubt a much handsomer man, as youth always makes that contribution, he met by chance one day the charming and no doubt blushing young widow, Theresa Blanco. Still wearing the signs of mourning at full style, her weeds made the pale face, made so by the constant and long vigils by the bedside of her husband, who had been taken to the French Hospital at San Francisco, still paler.

Her constant vigilance could not save the dear man, to her, and he finally passed away and was consigned to the tomb. There was restlessness under the scenes of agony which her distressed mind had gone through with and, under her physicians' advice, she determined to leave the noise and turmoil of a dirty city and spend a few months in comparative seclusion. She selected as a place of temporary residence the western portion of the town of Berkeley.

Her deceased husband had been a successful business man and frugal in his ways, and by so doing had managed to save something to provide for himself and wife in later days of life when the snows of many years had descended upon his head. Now there being no children Theresa became the sole heir to her companion's accumulations. It was enough, with care, to provide all of her necessary wants as long as she might live.

It was but a short time ere she and Joe Williams happened to meet and then it was almost love at first sight. She quickly succumbed to the inevitable and the two were soon joined together never to be separated except by death. That harvest of all living things came sooner than was expected. After a short illness Mrs. Williams died and her body was duly consigned to the cold and lonely tomb.

It was a sad blow for Joe and it was many a day before he could reconcile himself to his fate. By degrees he became like his old self once more and was again cheery. As it was known that Joe, by the death of his wife, came into the possession of quite an amount of property, he was soon subject to the wiles and guiles of the fair sex. He, however, had no idea of marrying again, but one fine day Mary Mamondas came before his vision and she came another day. In fact she came right along and tried to convince Joe of his loneliness. In this she partially succeeded. Only partially, however. As to the eating, drinking and sleeping, it was all right, but as to being a regular partner in the whole of his world's goods, he would not listen to it.

Now Mary was a married woman, but she did not stop to consider her lawful spouse but immediately put up at Joe's tavern. Here she remained until last Wednesday. On that day, without telling Joe goodbye, she skipped out and he has not been able to discover her whereabouts since. In Joe's moments of ease he had allowed Mary to do some of the jewelry belonging to his deceased Theresa. A watch, chain, a pair of earrings and some gold studs have been missing from the household ever since last Wednesday, and, queer as it may seem, it was on that same day that Mary went. Now Joe would like to have that jewelry, and anyone who will restore it to him may keep Mary for his trouble. Friends of Williams feel sorry for his mishap and hope he may be enabled to soon get back what honestly belongs to him and then he will be happy again.

The Saloon Question.

In another column will be found an advertisement from the Town Marshal, in which he notifies all saloon men within the limits of Berkeley that their applications and permits now on file in the office of the clerk will expire on June 30th, and that any person now engaged in the business or intending to engage in the saloon business, who refuses or neglects to make such application at the meeting of the Town Board on July 5th will give sufficient cause for the Board to refuse them a license for the ensuing year.

After the Marshal had handed the above notice to the GAZETTE reporter, he was asked what the status of the case was at the present time.

He stated that it looked like a fight to the finish on the part of the saloon men and on the part of the Board but what the outcome would be he could not say.

He and his deputy, Fred Rawson, were engaged this morning in delivering licenses for the present quarter to those men who had paid their $100 in advance under ordinance No. 600; the $50 to be credited to them on the $100 paid in.

The saloon keepers, however, to a man, have refused the license tendered them, claiming that if the old ordinance was no good the town had no right to their money. Neither could it hold that money now and compel men to engage in business under the $200, if they decide not to.

The Marshal explained that it was none of his affair whether they accepted them or not, he was simply carrying out the orders of the Board of Trustees.

Marshal Lloyd informed the reporter that it was his intention to make an arrest today in order that the matter may get quickly into the Courts.

Off for the East.

Professors Joseph Le Conte, William Cary Jones and Irving Stringham will leave in a few days for the National Educational Convention at Denver, which will be held there during the early part of next month.

Immediately following the Educational Convention will be held the Convention of United States Agricultural Experiment Stations, at which a member of the agricultural department of the university will be in attendance. It is probable that Professor Loughridge will be selected to go on account of there being illness in the family of Professor Hilgard at the present time.

It is about time for the labor unions that denounced Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald when he was first appointed to offer him an apology. The vigorous manner in which he has taken hold of the coolie question entitles him to it.—Livermore Herald.

There is a difficulty between the carpenters and bricklayers of San Francisco on account of the manner of letting contracts. Each trade wants the contract made out for the whole work to that trade and hence the dispute arising. As an outcome of the disagreement bricklayers have been imported from Denver.

A large number of Berkeley people are leaving for the mountains and for the coast every day. The newspaper man has to stay at home, as the coast and the mountains are not for him.

Professor George H. Howison, Mills Professor of intellectual and moral philosophy at the university, who recently received a call to the chair of philosophy at the University of Michigan, has decided to retain his present position at the University.

Charles Starr, formerly a member of Company A, Second Regiment California Volunteer Company Calvary, received a notice today that he had been allowed a pension today commencing 10th of October, 1890. From that time to May 30, 1894 he has been allowed $6 per month. After the last date he has been allowed $8 per month. There will be a nice little sum coming to Charley.

What has become of the Oakland subscription for the valley road? Why not take it and build the road to the coal mines? With a road half way to Stockton there is very little doubt but what the valley road people would build to connect with it and thus insure Oakland the terminus. This would be bagging two birds with one barrel.—Livermore Herald.

of interest, not only in Oakland but all over the State, and the general sentiment is in favor of Dr. Shuey.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

President Dole's message is outspoken in favor of the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, that is, he declares that such is the dominant sentiment in the Hawaiian Republic. He says, explicitly: "While the annexation of this country to the United States of America has not yet been accomplished, it still remains the policy of the Government. Its consummation will be earnestly sought, with an abiding faith that such a result will be full of great and lasting benefits to our people."

There have been rumors of revolution of late, and of attempts to subvert the Government of Hawaii, but they all simmer down to a feeling of discontent on the part of a few people who, under the monarchy, enjoyed a free poi and taro—if that be the Hawaiian equivalent for loves and fishes—and who have an innate aversion to working for a living. It seems to be apparent that the Hawaiian republic can take care of itself, outside interference being debarred, and that it has little to fear from internal dissension, and less from rebels who may be stranded on this coast from San Diego to Victoria.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Advices from Stockton state that work will be commenced in the Corral Hollow railroad as soon as the right of way can be obtained from the city of Stockton. The company has been assured that the right of way asked for will be immediately given.

ALASKA'S BIG BEARS.

GOOD FISHERMEN, ROADMAKERS AND FIERCE FIGHTERS.

What Hunters Who Have Met the Grizzly
Have to Say of His Alaska Cousins—They Do Not Fear Man and Will Fight While Mortally Wounded.

A traveler who recently returned from Alaska says: "The Alaskan brown bear is a huge, shaggy animal, varying in length from 6 to 12 feet and weighing from 800 to 1,500 pounds. I found him to be an expert fisher, and during the salmon season he frequents all the rivers emptying into the Bering sea and the north Pacific and their tributaries as far as the fish go. After the salmon run is over the animal retreats into the recesses of the hills, where berries and small game are plentiful. Among other things he does besides fishing and occasionally chewing up a hunter, he is a great road-maker for this part of Alaska. Nor only are the banks of the streams trodden into good trails by these huge lumbering beasts, but the swampy plains are crossed in every direction by paths leading to the hills. The traveler will do well to follow them in journeying across the country, as they invariably lead to the best feeding places along the stream and form the best routes to the hills."

A hunter who has spent some time there recently chasing brown bears writes several of his experiences to the Seattle Telegraph.

"My first encounter," he says, "with one of these brown bears was a startling experience for me, and I have always thought equally so for the bear. We had been working up against a strong current of the Kookwak river all day, and toward nightfall pitched our tent at the base of a high bluff forming the right bank of the stream. While supper was being prepared I climbed the bluff to get a look at the country and was walking along with my gun carefully held in my left hand. The top of the bluff was densely covered almost to the edge with spruce and alders, and the undergrowth was so thick that it was impossible to see more than a few feet through it. Ahead of me a cluster of rocks offered a temporary place to sit down and enjoy the view, and I made for it. Just as I reached the nearest rock a tremendous shaggy animal arose apparently from under my feet, and I immediately recognized in him the brown bear of whose fierceness the natives had been telling me for weeks. My first instinct was to shoot, and I probably would have done so had my gun been in my right hand, but the first motion I made the bear reared on his haunches and was so formidable looking that I concluded to wait and see what he intended doing. After a moment's hesitation, during which he turned his head from side to side and licked his chops in a most suggestive fashion, he dropped on all fours, and with wonderful quickness turned and sprang out of sight in the dense undergrowth. When I returned to camp and related my experience, Tah-tah-rok, my native guide, assured me that the bear must recently have concluded a heavy meal, or otherwise he would have attacked me."

"Some officers from some of the vessels of the Bering sea fleet went ashore at Herendeen bay during the summer of 1891 on a deer hunt, and one of the party saw a bear about 100 yards distant eating berries. Without thought of the consequences, he raised his gun and fired at the animal."

"The shot went wide of the mark, but at the report of the gun the bear started for the hunter on a dead run. His charge was met with a shower of bullets from the officer's repeater; but, although badly wounded, the infuriated animal did not hesitate an instant and rushed straight at his enemy. When within about 10 feet of the hunter, the bear rose on his haunches and prepared to close. Blood was pouring in streams down his body. One bullet had shattered his upper jaw, but he was so full of fight that the final outcome of the struggle would have been extremely doubtful had not another of the party arrived and ended the fight by shooting the brute through the brain. An examination of the bear's body showed that he had been struck six times. Three of the shots were in parts of the body ordinarily considered vital and would doubtless have caused death, but the vitality of these animals is almost incredible. Instances are cited of their running over 100 yards after being shot through the heart."

"Last summer, while I was at Sand Point, two hunters came in, after an absence of over a month in the vicinity of Portage bay, and reported having killed 38 bears. One day they killed seven. In order to show that they were not spinning hunters' yarns they brought the skins with them, and sold them at a trading post at Sand Point. During the summer of 1891 two prospectors were looking for coal lands near Port Moller, and about a mile from the shore they came upon an immense brown bear engaged in catching salmon in a small stream. One of the prospectors immediately opened fire, and evidently wounded the brute badly, but he got out of sight in the thick brush. Being anxious to secure the skin the two men started to follow the wounded animal. They had not gone a dozen steps before the enraged and wounded brute turned on them; and before either one could fire a shot he seized one man by the leg and bit it nearly off, and then sprang upon his companion, and knocked him senseless with the blow of his terrible paw. Having, as he thought, finished his enemies, the bear quietly ambled off, and was subsequently found dead a few hundred yards from the scene of battle."

With Tears in Her Eyes.
She was thrown on the world.
"Marvellous heaven!" she gasped.
Considerable turf was knocked off the world where she struck it.
Before anybody could reach her she had risen and was swiftly leading her bicycle away.—Town Topics.
